

Allah opens doors for them... one answer at a time.”

He turned back towards Zayd. “So... What is the question that has been living inside your heart?”

Zayd looked down. Then quietly whispered,
“It’s about the Kaabah.”

Khalid smiled.

“Then let me tell you about another man...
who asked even more questions than you.”

Zayd looked up.

“Really?”

“Oh yes. He questioned everything.
He wondered about the stars. Then the moon.
Then the sun. He questioned the idols his people worshipped.
He even questioned the beliefs of his own father.”